AG's opinion may govern school bus rider actions

by JAKE JACOB

The Attorney General of the State of Mississippi is to be asked to render an opinion on toughened school bus security regulations scheduled for preparation during the early part of summer by legal counsel of the Hancock County School Board.

Upon receipt of the opinion, subject to its being favorable, the regulations will be adopted by the board, printed and distributed to all students in the system.

Walter Gex, III, advanced the proposal as one offering a solution to a continuing disciplinary system among student passengers on the busses, particularly those traveling the long haul from Pearllington to North Central.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph broached the controversial subject Friday at the board's first business session of the month. They had originally met Monday but been informed at that time by Gex, that due to it being a state holiday they could discuss issues but take no action.

Randolph said he had received information some two weeks before school closed that there would be trouble on the concerned bus on the last day of school.

To counter such threat he had asked

School board passes revised 16th Section lease policies

by JAKE JACOB

The Hancock County School Board on Friday took a definite stand on the Sixteenth Section school lands issue and as a result are to present the supervisors with a new plan designed to increase revenues to their school system.

Two of the board, President Monvel Cuevas, and Johnny Banks declined to favor the move saying that while in favor of change to benefit the system they were going to vote against the motion feeling they were voting for unknown figures.

The decision to change the outdated leasing policies, which, according to Superintendent Terrell Randolph, in some cases realizes less than a nickel an acre to the county school system, came close behind a Mississippi Legislative Audit Committee announcement concerning its intention to visit Hancock County to review the Sixteenth Section land situation on a first hand basis.

Randolph presented the proposed changes to the supervisors last month only to have them ask he seek the approval of his board first.

The superintendent said under the

Utilities carpeting, ball park rentals form Council topics

by JAKE JACOB

Waveland aldermen decided to readvertise for carpeting bids on Tuesday after Mayor John Longo, Jr., pointed out the specifications previously published did not clearly indicate the type of carpeting required to cover floors in the expanded utilities department office.

A rent hike on property owned by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and utilized by the city failed to deter aldermen from renewing the deed, albeit under the railroad's new terms.

Previously leased for $5 per year, the L&N lands, are the home of Waveland's Little League and site of the public tennis courts, playgrounds, and park area, on Railroad and Waveland Avenues.

New rental was set by the railroad at $60 per year, a sum considered a

Verification of disablement asked of DAV tag users

Persons applying for Disabled American Veterans automobile tags must in future have a letter of qualification ready in all respects for presentation to the county tax office at the time of tag renewal application.

George Heitzmann, tax collector, said this week that such a letter, issued by the Veterans Administration, must state the applicant is a veteran possessing a 100 percent service-connected disability before a tag will be issued.

"This is true of both new tags and renewal tags," Heitzmann said.

"In instances where DAV plates are issued under what later proves to be a false claim, the plates will be picked up, regular plates issued, and all applicable taxes collected retroactive to the date the DAV tag was issued," Heitzmann explained.

John Wilkerson, veterans service officer, Hancock County, said Thursday that additional perils are faced by anybody claiming a DAV plate under false pretenses.

"Section 27-49-53, Para 4, Mississippi Code of 1972, state that any person evading or violating any of the provisions of the section, or attempting to secure benefits hereunder, to which he is not entitled, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $1000," Wilkerson said.

He said that further information on the subject could be obtained from him at 467-5404.

Appreciation expressed by Commission

The Bay St. Louis Election Commissioners have expressed their sincere appreciation to the poll workers and the City Clerk for the excellent job they did in the recent General Election.

"The job of redistricting the electors without a new registration was a tremendous task which was accomplished by the City Clerk with only a minimum of errors. We commend him for his efforts," the Commissioners said.

Lakeshore mink may coat backs of America

by JAKE JACOB

Raising mink is a tricky business and one not too many people try.

The Lakeshore Mink Ranch, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Ortiz, is Hancock County's latest and perhaps most novel industry.

Billed as the only mink ranch in the South, the Lakeshore based industry really provides employment for four people as without the constant attention of the proprietors and their two eldest children, the ranch would soon come to grief.

Mink, which look like a small otter or a big squirrel, are vicious, finicky, skittish, canverous, mean, noisy, and can lay one on you like a skunk.

There only saving grace is the fur they produce around December when it gets a little cool. Then they may or may not return the heavy investment of the rancher - but only if the price holds.

The Lakeshore Mink Ranch started earlier this year with 12 mink. Of these 10 were impregnated females, and the other two males.

This breeding stock was purchased from a ranch in Waseca, Minnesota, and shipped via air to Gulfport in specially made containers.

Mink come in jet black, pastel, and blue sapphire.

The Lakeshore ranch now has some of each, as soon after their arrival the females had litters, giving the ranch an additional 30 baby mink (or kits).

But, while the future looked nice and furry, the Ortiz's were just learning and before they knew it, one mother took fright and ate her litter, while the rest soon began fighting and would have killed each other if they had not all been put into separate pens.

Cats carry germs that can wipe out the whole ranch without the feline ever getting alongside one of the mink, a fact that has led to the removal of all cats in the vicinity.

Too, the mink must be vaccinated against a great variety of diseases, all of which can lead to a quick death.

The average purchase price for a stock mink is somewhere between $55 and $43. When fattened, pampered, fed, and bushed, their pelts sell for about $20.

It obviously is not a business for the faint of heart.

With the ability to bite through the welding gloves used to handle them, the mink eat liver, fish, neutra, and cereal.

The mink's living quarters must be maintained in a high stage of cleanliness with the sand beneath the cages being constantly raked and changed, and the barn hosed down to keep inside temperatures low.

Three types of boxes are required for the mink... breeding, pelting, furring... all constructed at the ranch by the family working together.

The Ortiz's have stressed values to all their children and explain to them how by maintaining a cost consciousness per each mink the profit margin will permit them all - much further down to line, to buy those little luxuries in life.

In the meantime, they say, everyone must work to eat, each doing the task they can best perform, even if it is only "...keeping out of the way."

Ortiz says he hopes to expand the ranch as he and the family learn more about the business, a decision already being born out by a barn enlargement program now underway.

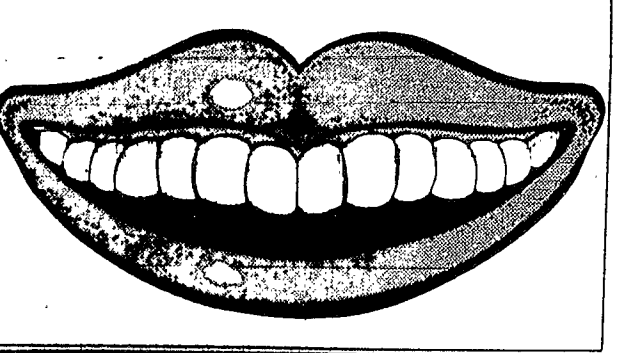

Timbers for the buildings have been cut from the family property, and all aided in their placement.

A trapper and fisherman, Ortiz is trying to establish the new venture to bring security to his large family.

"It is a risk," he said, adding, "but with fewer fish and animals it is difficult to make a living as a trapper so I am trying something new."

"My family is helping in every way I know how and this not only makes it worthwhile but it is the very thing that makes such a risk possible."

"We are all working together to make this a success, and we are going to give it a real good try."

I am most grateful to the voters of the 4th ward who expressed their confidence in me at the polls on election day. To the other candidates and their supporters I express thanks for the high quality of their campaigning. And to all the citizens of the 4th ward I pledge to work for your finest hopes and expectations for the new councilmanic form of government.

Sincerely,

Jul Wagner

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Ladner of Bay St. Louis are parents of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk peau de soie gown in a classic design, with a bodice embellished with re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls which featured a key hole neckline. The close fitting sleeves fell into a full bell of lace over the hands. She wore a close fitting lace caplet and imported silk illusion veil bordered with scalloped re-embroidered Alencon lace which swept into a full length train edged in matching lace. She carried nose gay of white brides roses, pixie carnations and gypsophelia tied with satin streamers. She carried her mother's Swiss lace handkerchief which she carried at her wedding. Groomsmen and ushers were Edward Throop, Jr. brother of the bride; Desmond Ladner, brother of the groom, Bay St. Louis; Mark Sleevi, Arlington, Va.; Danny Lamier, Bay St. Louis and Keith Ladner, Lakeshore.

The mother of the bride wore an electric blue crepe gown with a chiffon overlay cape and a wrist orchid corsage.

The groom's mother selected an ivory gown embellished with matching lace. Her corsage was a pink orchid.

A reception followed at the Crystal Ball room of Security-Markham building in downtown Gulfport.

The bride's table held a five tiered wedding cake separated by Grecian columns topped with wedding bells. Two branched candelabra held oboes of white roses and gypsophelia.

The food table was centered with a silver branched candelabra of apricot roses and Queen Ann's Lace with topiary trees placed at vantage points in the ballroom. Assisting in serving were: Mrs. W. F. ## Countless hours put into "Fiddler on the Roof"

BY MIKE CUEVAS

I have met people through my association with the local Little Theatre who have donated countless hours of talent to provide entertainment to our community, but those working on the current production of "Fiddler on the Roof" are unbelievable.

The backstage crew has spent hours cleaning, organizing, building, collecting all the necessary inanimate objects to contribute to the success of the musical. Can you imagine a home, a barn, a tavern, a country side, a village all on one stage? With lots of imagination, the skill of using hammer, nails, saw and a paint brush it is all there for the cast to make their scenes come alive.

The cast has rehearsed nine hours each week and up to 20 as showtime approaches for nine weeks and what they have created is not to be missed.

But what would a musical production be without musicians, and what orchestra would be complete without a pianist? The Little Theatre has quite a find in Mrs. Mary Howard, pianist for "Fiddler on the Roof."

The theatre is not the only organization to benefit from the talents of this very gifted young woman. She is an officer and active member of the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary, and choir director for the Main St. Methodist Church.

The wife of a fellow musician, Danny Howard, band director for Hancock North Central, and mother of four year old Melanie, Mrs. Howard has been the most valuable assistant to "Fiddler..." director, Olive McKenna and her cast. She has literally worked her fingers to the bone to bring out the best in each singer, playing until her fingers were numb. She's helped break the monotony of rehearsal by playing for spontaneous sing-alongs of popular songs.

The charming Mrs. Howard is well educated in her chosen field of music education, having graduated from Pearl River Junior College, where she was the only female member of Pearl River's jazz band. She received her Bachelor's degree from the University of Southern Mississippi. She has taught in our public school system, played for the O.L.G. Carnival Balls, the Junior Auxiliary Red Stockings Follies, and several musicals presented by St. Stanislaus and the Little Theatre in the past several years.

"Fiddler on the Roof" will be presented June 22-25 at the Little Theatre on Boardman Avenue. The audience will hear and view the combined talents of over 50 volunteers and will become part of the traditional excitement of live theatre.

A. Any individual, corporation or partnership or any other entity that owned one or more cattle at any time in 1976 (except, solely for the purpose of slaughter) is eligible to register and vote.

B. A group of individuals such as a family engaged in the production of cattle as a producer entity shall be entitled to cast only one vote. However, if any member of a group is a production entity separate from the group, he may also register and vote (eg. 4H or FFA). Ownership papers or other documents (sales, etc) may be required to show the separate entity from the family or group.

C. There will be no voting by proxy. However, an officer or employee of a corporate producer or any guardian, administrator, executor, or trustee of a producer's estate may register and cast a ballot on behalf of such entity.

Cattle producers are urged to keep the dates of the referendum-registration and voting - in mind and contact the ASCS office if they have any questions about the referendum.

NEW FARM WHEAT ALLOTMENTS

A new farm wheat allotment may be established for 1978 crop wheat acreage for farms that did not have a 1977 allotment, if they meet eligibility requirements, and file an application at the county ASCS office in Poplarville.

A 1978 wheat allotment will be established automatically for most farms that had a wheat allotment in 1977.

To be eligible for a new farm allotment:

- The operator must expect to receive more than 50 percent of his income from farming.
- Neither the farm owner nor operator may have an interest in any other farm which will have a 1978 wheat allotment at the time the request is made.
- The person making application must have had at least one year of wheat production experience in a prior year.

Applications for a new farm allotment may be filed at the county ASCS office on or before July 1, 1977.

Any interested producer who can meet these requirements should contact the county office before the final date for filing an application.

Babe Ruth League

Runs, Runs, Runs. That's all you can say about the action in the Babe Ruth League at Bay High Field on Thursday, June 6. There were a total of 57 runs scored in two games, the first game 31 and the second game put 28 runs across the plate.

In the first game Rotary and Chasex fought it out until the very end with Rotary coming up on the right end of the stick 16 to 15. Rotary was ahead 12 to 5 at the end of 3 innings and then Chasex opened up for 11 runs in the last 3 innings compared to 4 for Rotary. Ricky Hardie started and finished the game for Chasex and was panned with the loss. Andy Ruhr started for Rotary and received late inning help from Perre Cabell who got the win in relief. Davey Smith had a good day at the plate for Chasex going 3 for 5 and scoring 2 runs. Ricky Hardie and Donald Carver both collected 2 hits for Chasex. 7 people each had one hit for Rotary - Pat Kergsten, Ricky Johnson, Rodney Carr, Donald Ginn, and Keith Johnson each had a single. Joe Gex and Andy Ruhr both blasted long triples.

In the second game American Legion annihilated Coast Electric, 22 to 4. Melvin Barnes was the top hitter of the game, going 3 for 4 and scoring 4 runs. Kevin McCaleb and Kerry Geroux both stroked 2 hits. Kelly Geroux and David Strong, who played with a cast on his left arm rounded out the hitting attack with one apiece. Kevin McCaleb was the winning pitcher for American Legion, striking out 8 and walking 7. David Strong entered in the fourth inning and picked up the save. Strong struck out 3, walked one, and gave up no hits as he and McCaleb combined to pitch a two-hitter. Scott Cox started for Coast Electric but was replaced with Mike Richardson in the 3rd inning. Cox struck out 5 in a losing cause, Richardson 3. Joe Bye and Roger Woddall both had singles for Coast Electric.

American Legion batted around in the second, third, and fourth innings, sending 22 batters to the plate and scoring 19 of their 22 runs in those innings.

A healthy June

June, proclaimed "Dairy Month" throughout our land, got off to a good start in Hancock County with a Fair sponsored by the Hancock County Livestock Association of which L.J. Breux is president.

Breux and members of that splendid organization are doing much toward promoting and developing this important industry and deserve our cooperation as well as our heartiest congratulations.

It is not difficult to celebrate Dairy Month. There are more than 400 varieties of cheese. Ice Cream and Milk come in a tempting array of flavors. Butter is a good buy. There's quite a choice in milk including skimmed for the weight-watcher, homogenized, fortified, half-and-half, chocolate flavored and butter milk. Quite a tempting selection of recipes requiring milk are found in magazines, pamphlets, and newspapers.

Our local merchants deserve a word of praise also. The Dairy cases are well stocked, products are attractively displayed, and we couldn't ask for better service.

U.S. Public Health Service has added its support and bulletins point out: "Of all factors of man's environment, none is more important to his welfare than food. Of all foods, none is more important than milk."

A salute to "Dairy Month" and to those in this community who have aided in the development of this important industry!

JOE PILET

Dairy Month

As prices get higher for everything, consumers are steadily becoming more informed about what really constitutes value.

As part of their June Dairy Month activities, our friends in the dairy business remind us we can find that milk and dairy products are an excellent value, because milk is a tremendously valuable nutritional food.

Milk and dairy products form one of the four basic food groups necessary for anyone's properly balanced, healthy diet. For example, milk is one of the major sources of high-quality protein. Milk is loaded with vitamins and minerals, particularly calcium.

City gets

EDA grant

BY JERRY WHITTLE

The City of Bay St. Louis was notified Thursday morning they have received approval of an EDA (Economic Development Agency) grant of over $200,000 for water and sewer extensions.

At a recessed meeting from Tuesday, Mayor Warren Carver told Commissioners Lucien Kidd and Larry Bennett that he had received the letter of notification of approval this week.

The letter stated the city had been approved for a $207,000 grant. Mayor Carver said the use for the money had already been approved by the council and the letter was the final notification that the city had received approval of the grant.

Burk and Associates, who handles the engineering work for the city, prepared the necessary studies and filing of the applications for the grant.

accepts bid

BY JERRY WHITTLE

The Bay St. Louis City Council voted Monday to accept the low bid of $147,766.20 from Williams Paving Company of Biloxi for the Phase II Improvements, Main Street Project.

Action on the project followed a recommendation from Burk & Associates of New Orleans that the council accept the Williams bid and award the contract to the Biloxi based firm. Burk also noted in a letter to Mayor Warren Carver that the city must submit a written request to the Mississippi Department of Highways for their concurrence in awarding the contract to the low bidder.

In a Tuesday meeting, the council gave unanimous approval to action taken by the Board of Adjustment which asked for a minor variance in the city codes.

A motion was made by Commissioner Larry Bennett, seconded by Commissioner Lucien Kidd, to reappoint Mrs. Gwendolyn Ishem to another five year term on the Housing Authority Board. A unanimous vote was sounded.

Bennett presented two petitions for redemption of property by owners in the Shoreline Estates and Highland Park Subdivision areas.

In another matter, a letter was read by Carver rejecting a request from the Unification Church in New Orleans for permission to solicit funds within the City of Bay St. Louis. Unanimous approval of the reply was given by Bennett and Kidd.

A request by Kidd to donate $50 for the Bay-Waveland Fishing Rodeo for Children was given unanimous approval by the council.

The meeting was recessed until a later date.

Letters to the Editor

June 5, 1977

Dear Mr. Whittle:

You were so helpful in getting the information about National Library Week into the Echo for me, that I hope you will be as understanding and helpful with news of the Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

You probably do not know that the local Chapter has had a difficult job of continuing to exist; not in some areas - for instance, Thelma Kergosien has her Red Cross office in the County Court House, and does an excellent job of seeing that all matters pertaining to men in service are worked out; there are swimming classes sponsored by the Red Cross given each summer; the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits us yearly; and my own job as liaison person between the Gulfport Veterans Hospital and 12 of our community's civic and church organizations continues monthly - and has since I took over that chairmanship in 1968.

But the Red Cross has trouble in getting MEMBERS - it's been an on-again, off-again organization for many years - when I first became a member it was doing quite well, but then, little by little it began to go downhill - the Chairman would be too busy (or too disinterested, as the case might be) to call meetings, and it has been a constant battle to keep any interest whatsoever alive.

Now, however, things are looking up. A re-organizational meeting was held last week - new officers elected - and now if we can just create some genuine interest among PEOPLE to become MEMBERS, I think we are off to a good start.

Thelma Kergosien and I had a long talk about the situation, and we thought perhaps an in-depth article about her work - and perhaps one about my work with the veterans and the dozens and dozens of volunteers from the community who are involved in the monthly parties for the vets, might create some interest - and we'd also like to use the Echo as a medium of appealing to people to join the Hancock County Chapter, and that's the reason I have written the attached news item - which I hope you will use.

Thanks again for past favors, and thanks in advance for future ones!

Sincerely yours,

terested and active in their city government. One of the steps he plans put into action is a citizens advisory committee, which he will announce in the near future. Bennett said he felt the committee would be of great assistance to him during his administration. He also plans to call various citizens at random when important issues arise to get their views on the matters.

In concluding his remarks, Bennett stated, "I am looking forward to working with the members of the council to put our city on the move."

Milk Measures Up!

Mrs. Haas selected

'77 Crusade chairman

Fred Smith, Area Executive Director for the Coast District of the American Cancer Society has announced the selection of Mrs. Linda L. Haas as 1977 Crusade Chairman for Hancock County.

"The annual Crusade is a combination drive for education and fund raising," said Smith. "We need some with Mrs. Haas' ability to organize the Crusade and reach all the people in Hancock County."

Mrs. Haas is manager of Dixie Realty in Waveland. She served on the City-Council Library Board for seven years during which time the new library was built. She is married to Nicholas Haas and they have four children.

According to Mrs. Haas, the American Cancer Society is faced with two main objectives, the ultimate being the complete eradication of cancer. Over $350 million has been spent on basic research projects toward this end.

The second objective is to save lives now, through educating the public. About half of the people who die from cancer could be saved if they knew the symptoms and could get help in the early stages.

To help reach this goal of more lives saved, the ACS sponsors local screening and education programs for both youth and adults.

Plans are being made now for a Cancer Awareness Day for Women to be held in Hancock County this summer to include free pap tests and instructions on self-breast examinations.

The '77 campaign will last through August 31 and many big activities are being planned to promote donations. "Time is limited and we desperately need volunteers. Our goal is $4050, a rather small goal and we need everyone's help to reach that goal. All donations will be greatly appreciated," said Mrs. Haas.

For further information or to volunteer, please contact Linda Haas at 467-9861 or 467-4129 or send your contribution to P.O. Drawer UU, Bay St. Louis, Miss., care of the American Cancer Society.

MEMORIAL DONATIONS

Memorial donations to the American Cancer Society of Hancock County can be sent to Mrs. Lucy McDonald, P.O. Box 30, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi 39520.

Please include with the contribution the name of the person to be remembered along with the name and address of the family to whom the memorial card is to be sent.

presentation.

Board member Woodrow Ladner was also not the most enthusiastic backer of the proposals but said they represented a start towards a more realistic approach to the question.

"I also know there are people living in homes whose leases are up and they are worried over what is going to happen," Woodrow Ladner said.

Under the proposals, almost identical to those presented to the supervisors last month, the leases are divided into four categories, agriculture, homestead, industrial, and recreation leases.

The agricultural lease would be for five years and land appraised and put to bid. Here the supervisors judged last month that leases falling due and unleased land shall, as far as practicable, be put into timber and administered by the state forestry commission.

The proposed homestead lease will be for five years with lands to be appraised at time of lease, and again on for a deputy to ride the bus for the protection of the students.

"The students harassed one deputy so badly he refused to ride the bus back that afternoon but would accompany the bus in a police car," Randolph said. Randolph said that due to the number of students absent one of the two buses was cut in the afternoon, with only one making the return trip.

Two adults rode the bus, but even so the driver was forced to stop and again seek assistance from the escorting police unit.

Board members, who last year faced court action following actions taken as the result of fights on the bus, asked Gex to clarify their legal position and also that of persons employed to maintain order in school buses.

Gex said that while the school board was obligated by law to provide transportation their concern is for the health and welfare of their charges.

He said that Randolph stopped the bus during the year for the period of one week, but the action was later sanctified as it was taken for the children's safety.

Although realizing the number of people involved, Gex suggested it may be necessary to have police units behind troublesome buses with a deputy actually on the bus.

He said that such an arrangement would permit the deputy to arrest troublemakers, have them removed from the bus and taken to the sheriff's office for processing.

"This would let the matter be taken out of your hands," Gex allowed.

After hearing the harassment of police officers or the bus driver, when engaged in their duties, is a misdemeanor under the law, school trustees were quizzed whether or not such activities could "punished on a retroactive basis."

The attorney said that such would be his understanding as it is impossible to impose punishment during a non-school period (such as during summer vacation).

"The reason they do this on the last day of school is that you may forget all about it, or die, before school reopens," Gex quipped.

After first voting to create a new position, Junior High School Assistant Principal at Hancock North Central School, the school board approved the recommendation of Edward Leonard to the slot.

Among his other duties, Leonard - presently in charge of discipline for the entire high school, is now responsible for maintaining discipline in the junior high school. Senior High School discipline responsibilities are the responsibility of its new assistant principal, James Baldrée, former principal of Charles B. Murphy School, Pearlport.

Leonard, earlier in the meeting questioned the board as to whether or not students who had been expelled should be required to meet with the superintendent prior to their being readmitted. His suggestion fell midway between a previous proposal by the superintendent that all such students should be required to meet with the board, a viewpoint not favorably met by trustees, who had felt the matter was one for decision by the principal.

Board member Woodrow Ladner said this was an instance of "learning by mistake," and that any future expulsions should spell out the term of their length.

Ladner said that if the board had expelled students for the balance of the 1976-77 school year, then they could reapply for admission next fall.

Trustees shelved the subject until a further determination of policy could be accomplished.

In an attempt to curb excessive telephone charges at North Central, the board approved installation of two, direct lines to the football and basketball departments. Both are to have a ceiling on long distance calls of $25 per month or $225 over a ninth month period, with savings going directly to the activity account of the concerned department.

bargain by the city's administrators. Longo told his council that more than 300 children were now playing baseball in a "...very professional manner..." on the site.

Council was told by letter that Waveland Jaycees would hold their annual fishing rodeo from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m., Aug. 13, and more than 300 entrants were expected.

A request from Hancock North Central High School for an advertisement to their souvenir football program next year met with a favorable reaction and aldermen agreed to advertise to the tune of $25; a request from the Univita Society to use the Waveland Community Center twice per month was denied on the basis of conflicting interests; a part payment on the sewage treatment plant in the amount of $15,000 previously put under advisement was retained in that category after determination was made that one item of equipment was still lacking; council voted to advertise for bids on chlorination units for their two four-inch stand-by wells; decided to investigate a request from a new retail outlet, located to the north side of US-90, to have a potable water hook-up supplied to that location after council determined they had installed a casing under the highway prior to its being 4-laned to provide for such an eventuality.

Beach clean-up next formed topic and aldermen decided to contact the supervisors concerning a more dedicated effort on their behalf in this direction.

Some sections of the beach, they said, were well maintained, but that other were a disgrace.

Council also agreed on the necessity of imposing some strong rules for beach operations, including the banning of swimming in that area fronting on Gulfside Assembly, until after the deep hole which caused six drownings over last weekend, could be filled.

Two other items occupied aldermanic attention before they recessed their meeting until June 22.

One concerned the rerouting of recreation vehicles off Nicholson Ave. at its southern extremities.

Here, they said, new signs will be erected to turn the vehicles heading for Buccaneer State Park off at Central and again at Coleman.

Existing signs are apparently being misread and are of a design that cause confusion.

Apart from the undesirability of such heavy amounts of traffic on Nicholson south of Central, aldermen said, the heavy representation of low tree limbs was causing damage to the vehicles.

The last item concerned construction of a sidewalk along St. Joseph Street from Central Ave. to the Waveland Elementary School.

Council authorized an immediate survey of the concerned area to determine what easements would have to be obtained for a sidewalk of some five foot in width.

Ladner recovering from surgery

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner of Hancock County was recovering satisfactorily on Thursday following surgery in East Jefferson Hospital.

Ladner, who had been complaining of various maladies, but had delayed being treated due to the pressures of his office, said he has undergone an operation on his spinal chord early Wednesday.

He said he had been having trouble with his left side for several months and that his regular physician has referred him to Dr. Jack Jackson, a neurosurgeon at West Jefferson this week.

The sheriff said his weight was still down some 27 pounds, due to flu and the like, another condition he hoped to correct before returning to work in about two weeks.

Ladner allowed he would be staying at the hospital for another five to seven days after which time he would be a home.

OFFER $7,800 IN 4-H AG SCHOLARSHIPS

Chicago - Agricultural college enrollments increased 75 percent in the six-year period from 1969 to 1975.

Many ag school deans attribute the enrollment jump to young people's concern about world food production, a growing interest in ecology, and the back-to-nature movement that began in the late 1960's.

Present or former 4-H members who plan to major in agriculture or related fields may be eligible for college scholarships offered by private-sector donors this year through National 4-H Council.

4-H scholarships range in value from $600 to $1,000. They are awarded on the basis of interest in attending college, 4-H

FARMERS MARKET OPENED

The Hancock County Farmers Market had its official opening on Saturday morning, June 4, 1977. The day was a big success with some eleven producers selling produce. There were five producers from Hancock County, two from Pearl River, one from Stone, and one from Jackson County participating.

The Farmers Market will be open every Wednesday and Saturday morning from 7:00 a.m. until, at the Hancock County Fairgrounds on Lafayette Road, next to the National Guard Armory.

I would like to encourage you to attend the market early, you should be able to get the fresh produce you will need for your family.

WAIT TO PLANT PUMPKINS

If you plan to grow pumpkins for Halloween, wait until the first week of July to plant your crop. Pumpkin seed planted now will mature during September. Storing your crop until October will be almost impossible, so delay planting. Save pumpkin seed until July and be prepared for goblins in October.

SMUTGRASS

This is an ideal month to clear pastures of heavy infestations of smutgrass. An application of five pounds of Dowpon M per acre, when smutgrass is eight to ten inches tall, should clear all smutgrass. This height allows sufficient leaf area to intercept the herbicide.

Areas treated for smutgrass will not yield grazeable forage for six to eight weeks. To keep fields with scattered smutgrass infestation grazeable, spot treat now or delay broadcast treatment until September or October.

BACTERIAL WILT

Wilted runner tips on cucumber plants are the first signs of bacterial wilt. The best way to control bacterial wilt is to control cucumber beetles, the insects on which the bacteria overwinter. When feeding on cucumber plants, these insects inject bacteria into the vine. They then spread throughout the plant by sap movement.

No control cucumber beetles, Sevin. Follow all label directions carefully.

LAWN AND GARDEN TOOLS

For longer and better service, store and care for lawn and garden tools properly. Remove all soil, rust and other deposits from hoes, shovels and other digging tools before storing. After cleaning off the dirt and rust, plunge the tools twice in a bucket of oily sand for final cleaning and coating. Keep all cutting edges sharp and handles tight.

The most important key to longer and better service is using tools only for the jobs they are intended to do.

E3 ENERGY EFFICIENT ELECTRIC HOME The test of energy efficiency

Before a new home can qualify as an E3 home, it must first pass a rigid inspection by Mississippi Power Company personnel and meet all the energy saving construction requirements.

E3 homes are special because they are built to reduce heating and cooling costs by up to 60%! They are cleaner, more comfortable and have a higher resale value than homes built to ordinary standards.

You can identify an E3 home by the distinctive bronze door knocker—symbol of E3 quality.

Insist that your new home be an E3 home. Contact Mississippi Power for more information.

Home Economist notes

By Norine Barnes

The second phase of Pocket Watch, a statewide home economics program conducted by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, will get under way in Hancock County on June 14, 1977.

The first event in the new phase is Food Preservation, June 14, 1977, which will officially kick off Hancock County's participation in the statewide program. It will begin at 1:00 p.m. at the Extension Auditorium.

Food preservation and foods will be emphasized during the next six months of Pocket Watch. Food preservation workshops and food preservation home study courses will deal with a variety of topics designed to show Mississippians how to get the most for their food dollars and how to preserve in "in season" foods for later enjoyment.

This phase of Pocket Watch will deal with canning and freezing fruits and vegetables; making jellies, jams and preserves, buying and freezing meats; the metric system and food preservation; breads; and planning and buying for economical, nutritious meals.

Men and women interested in informational materials on foods and food preservation and Pocket Watch events scheduled for Hancock County should contact me at 467-5456.

It's true that you can leave fruits and fruit juices in opened tin cans in your refrigerator - but some acid fruits and juices may acquire a metallic taste. The taste is not pleasant, but neither is it harmful, according to USDA Home Economists.

Fixing berries? Don't wash them until you're almost ready to serve them and don't take the stems or caps off of your cherries or strawberries until shortly before they will be eaten. Keeping quality is better if left intact.

Add a stick of cinnamon and a few cloves at the beginning of cooking dried fruits - a real taste tempter.

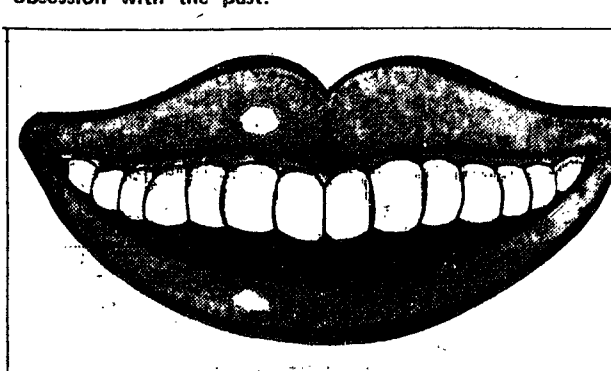

Dried vegetables should be stored in a dry, cool, dark place. When fruits are dried without cooking, their subsequent contact with the air as well as the enzymatic activity which takes place inside them - tends to darken the pulp. An example? Raisins.

If properly sealed, dried food may be stored under the bed in an unheated guest room - or in a box in the garage during winter months. Surprised? Well our ancestors did it!

If you are interested in drying fruits and vegetables, call 467-5456 or come by the Extension Office, 405 Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis for more information.
